

Rev. Geroid E. Caldwell, Pastor
Sixth Street Peace Baptist Church

Rev. Geroid E. Caldwell heard the call of God to preach the Gospel in 1993, and was called to pastor the First Baptist Church of Earltown in 1995 where he served for eight years. The church membership originally consisted of four senior aged women, and grew to 100 members under Pastor Caldwell's leadership. In November 2003, the almighty hand of God orchestrated yet another endeavor in the life of Reverend Caldwell when he was called to serve the congregation of the Sixth Street Peace Baptist Church in Birmingham, Alabama, where he continues to serve as Pastor.

Pastor Caldwell is a powerful, God-fearing man of God, a willing servant and bold soldier who is able to rightly divide the Word of Truth. He is tireless in his efforts to evangelize and make disciples for Christ. He has a great love for people and is always willing to assist those in need.

Pastor Caldwell was born and raised in Birmingham, Alabama and was educated in the public school system. He is a graduate of Wenonah High School and obtained an Associate's Degree in Electronics from Lawson State Community College. He also received a Bible Certificate from the Birmingham Baptist Bible College. Pastor Caldwell is employed at UAB Hospital in the Biomedical Clinical Engineering Department.

Pastor Caldwell is married to Latasha E. Cunningham Caldwell and they have two daughters, Danielle and Jasmine.
